DESIGNER NOTES

Design and function come together to create a new design in the Bayview Bench series. Landscape architects have been looking for ways to soften the look of concrete walls and the wall top seat in the Bayview-style brings perfect harmony between the natural environment and urban modernity. Aluminum armrests brings beauty to the bench yet serve two purposes. They make it easier for one to sit and rise, while making it less attractive to skateboarders to 'grind'. The backrest creates a touch of traditional and brings a more comfortable resting experience. The innovative bolt-down design ensures that the bench is strongly secured to the concrete while making it easy to remove for maintenance. This design makes a perfect addition to an urban space.
